Over the past three decades, comedian Tim Hawkins has gone from open mic nights at regional comedy clubs to headlining 90-minute sets nationwide and performing 100 times per year in front of audiences numbering in the thousands. A committed family man, Hawkins built his career poking fun at the things in his world that he finds funny, intentionally keeping his comedy clean, without sacrificing the quality of his work.

The Missouri native first began making a name for himself on YouTube, where he posted anecdotes about homeschooling, marriage, and real-life mishaps. He has released eight full-length DVDs, as well as five albums, amassing fans thanks to countless song parodies like “Chick-fil-A,” where he proclaims his unadulterated love for the popular fast food chain; “Cletus, Take The Reel,” his ode to fishing loosely based on Carrie Underwood’s classic hit; and his most-streamed song, “Pretty Pink Tractor,” his original spin on a signature Jason Aldean track. His parodies have made him a YouTube sensation. Hawkins has been sharing his original songs live alongside his stories and stand-up bits, averaging more than 100 shows annually for more than 10 years. In addition, he’s recorded over a hundred episodes of his popular “Poddy Break” podcast.

Currently, he hosts “The Tim Hawkins” podcast, which also features his wife, Heather, daughter, Olivia, and son-in-law, Luke. A father of four and a grandfather of one, Hawkins’ main goal is to “make people laugh as hard as humanly possible.”

You can find Tim Hawkins on Instagram, Facebook and YouTube.
